

Coharie Community Garden Ripple Effect Map

The Coharie community created this map of the changes sparked by the community garden since 2014! It was a collaborative effort between community members and UNC researchers to uncover the impact of the garden and the relationships created along the way.

COMMUNITY CAPITALS FRAMEWORK

BUILT	Infrastructure that supports the community	SOCIAL	Connections or bonds between individuals within a community
POLITICAL	Ability to influence local policy, standards, and law	CULTURAL	Collaboration across and within cultures; it influences what voices are the loudest and most heard
NATURAL	Natural amenities and the environment, wildlife and natural beauty	HUMAN	Skills and abilities of residents and the capacity to address outside resources
FINANCIAL	Resources required to start businesses, invest in community spaces, support entrepreneurship and build wealth

RIPPLE EFFECT MAPPING

What are people doing differently?

1

Who is benefitting and how?

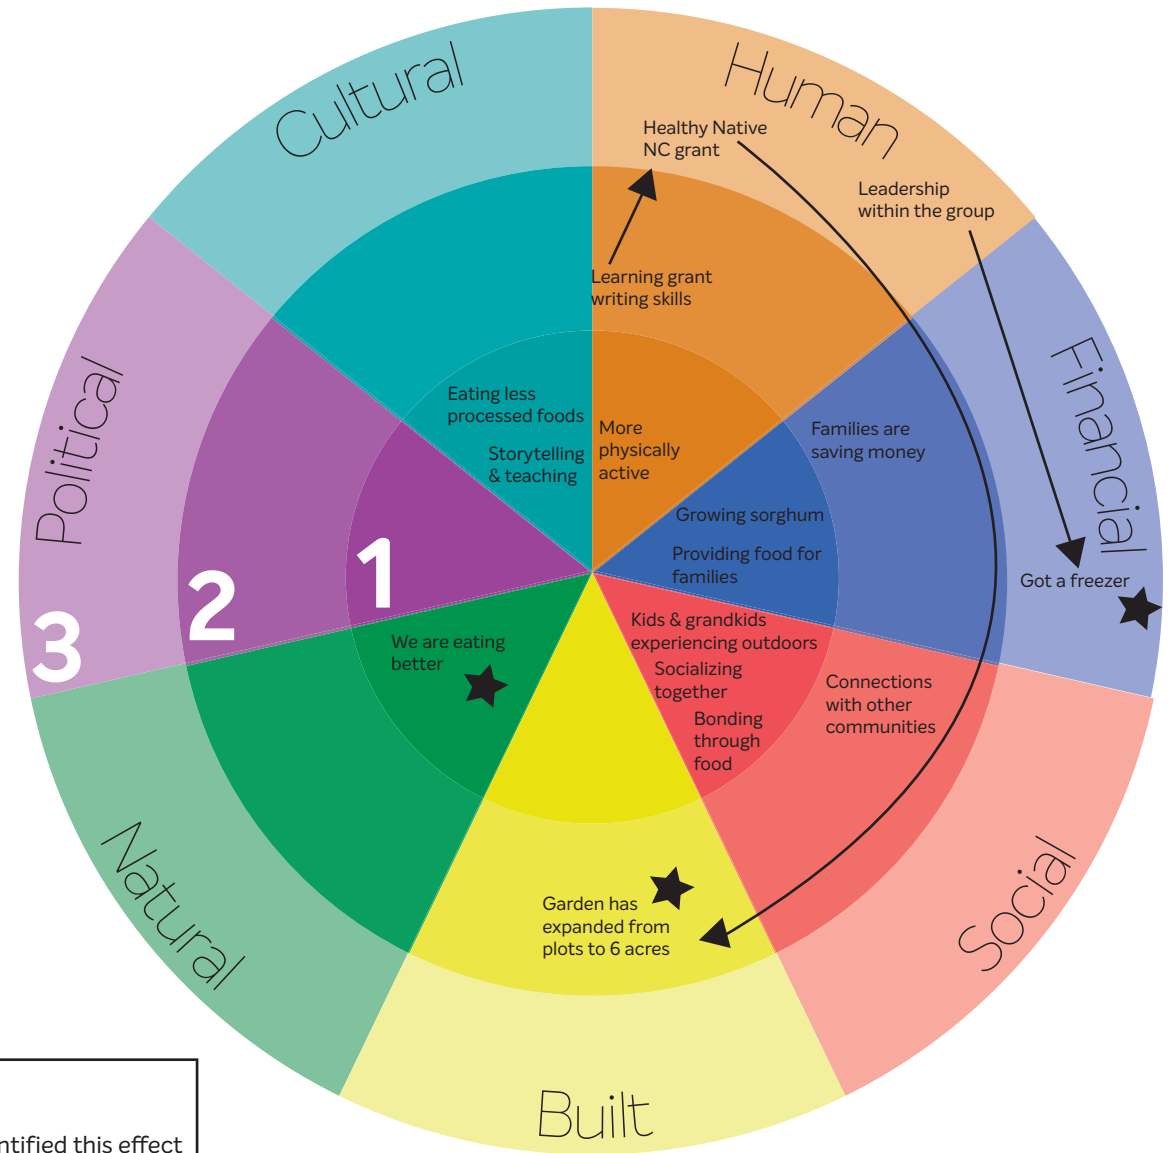

How is the fact that people are doing things differently affecting others?

2

What changes are you seeing in the community's systems, institutions or organizations?

Are everyday ways of thinking and doing changing? How?
